You Can Talk to ACCKWA

The Aids Committee of Cambridge Kitchener Waterloo and Area is a community-based organization. Although ACCKWA must keep statistics on who uses our services and must report to our funders, direction does not come from any Ivory Tower. The Board of Directors is elected from the general membership each Annual General Meeting in May.

Our direction comes from the people of this region. ACCKWA's mission statement reads, "To mobilize our community through education, advocacy and support to respond effectively and with compassion to individuals infected or affected by Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV)."

We conduct educational presentations on a wide variety of HIV- and AIDS-related topics and offer a range of support services — from one-to-one counselling to group support for individuals with HIV, AIDS, their partners, families and friends.

The growth of our services is only possible with the support of volunteers who are involved again in a wide variety of efforts. For more information on any of our services or volunteer opportunities, give us a call at the office, 741-8300. You can talk to us.
