July 1991

A Festive Festival '91

The first annual Festival '91 in Hamilton confirmed that Hamilton G.A.L.A. has not only a new name, but also a new vitality and strength.

The festival opened on Thursday, June 13th, with three movies: Waiting for the Moon, Dona Herlinda and Her Son and the premiere showing of The Making of Monsters directed by John Greyson. The Making of Monsters takes a cultural look at anti-gay violence.

Friday began the first of seminars held at the Hamilton Public Library, which included such topics as "Is Health Care a Heterosexual Privilege?" to "A Spiritual Journey" with Marcie Werler of the MCC in Toronto. To have such an event take place in the public library where gay individuals once secretly looked for literature concerning their new and unaccepted feelings was inspiring.

Svend Robinson delivered a forceful and thought provoking speech which touched on issues pertinent to our roles in the social structure. He spoke of the need to put pressure on the Federal Government to recall sexual discrimination in the Human Rights Bill and demand same sex spousal benefits and equality in all areas. He addressed close to 300 gays, lesbians and gay positive individuals after a delightful dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the Royal Connaught Hotel. As Svend Robinson said, "The place is fit for a queen."

It was a landmark event for Hamilton. In an indoor carnival atmosphere, where people could browse, buy and be educated, gay businesses, artists and social groups interacted with the general public.

The weekend concluded with a dance Saturday evening and a quaint picnic Sunday. All in all, Hamilton has shown that together, our individual voices can be heard. Slowly but surely change is taking place.

I was proud to sit with individuals whose hope and volunteer time made a difference.
